Can the Windows agent be push installed on servers?

Yes. By using the .msi version of the up.time Windows agent you can deploy the agent using the domain group policy as you would any other .msi-based package.

For further information on deploying a package via group policy, refer to How to Use Group Policy to Remotely Install Software on the Microsoft website.