

up.time Controller

up.time is available as a RESTful Web API. The API, accessed through the up.time Controller, allows users to customize up.time outside of its core feature set.

The up.time Controller is part of the main up.time installation, and requires minimal configuration to enable secure communication with up.time. See the Installation and Quick-Start Guide for more information.