

FLEXlm returns null value for HostID

When retrieving the HostID for a monitoring station platform, one of the following messages may be displayed:

```
The FLEXlm Host ID of this machine is ""
```

```
The Flexlm HostID of this machine is "ffffff"
```

As FLEXlm depends on an adapter named eth0, it may be necessary to create an adapter alias named eth0 to enable FLEXlm to correctly report the HostID.

If the above instruction does not provide a valid HostID, please contact uptime-support@idera.com for further assistance.
