

How to Graph Retained Metrics for HTTP Monitor

This article explains how to display retained metrics for the HTTP monitor's Text to look for field.

The HTTP monitor can be configured to retain the results of the Text to Look for field for graphing purposes. However, the option to generate this graph is greyed out when viewing the service metrics because the values are stored as text strings, which can not be plotted on a graph like integers or other numeric values.

The solution for viewing the retained results for this monitor is to generate a Service Monitor Metrics Report, which will provide a list of the monitor's historical results.